

“Sasha Reid and the Midnight Order” – Season 1

“Sasha Reid and the Midnight Order” is a documentary series following Dr. Sasha Reid and her secret society of young women with vastly different backgrounds but one common obsession — the dark psychology of those who commit harm and the desire to protect those that law enforcement has ignored. They band together to work outside the system to protect the vulnerable, solve cold cases, and dive into the dark minds of killers using forensic expertise and world-class data skills. Their motto is to have compassion first but let the evidence lead.

“Sasha Reid and the Midnight Order” is directed by Nancy Schwartzman, and Maija Norris serves as showrunner. Executive producers are Schwartzman and Norris, along with XTR’s Justin Lacob, Kathleen Flood and Bryn Mooser.
