8:00-9:02 p.m. EDT – The Golden Bachelor: “106” (106)

Logline: Only two roses remain as Gerry Turner heads to the hometowns of his final three women where, for the first time in “Bachelor” history, their children and grandchildren are waiting to meet the man hoping to win their loved one’s heart.

Extended Logline: Gerry Turner sets off across the country – from New Jersey to Washington and Minneapolis – to meet the families of his final three women, which, for the first time in “Bachelor” history, will include children and the toughest critics yet – grandchildren! Each visit offers the opportunity for Gerry and his potential partners to connect on a deeper level and take a glimpse into what combining their lives would look like; but as he inches closer to the final stages of his journey, his decisions weigh heavy on his heart. With only two roses to offer before jetting off to overnight dates, Gerry will face a near impossible decision and a rose ceremony that no one could have predicted.
