

KENDALL HEATH

Executive Producer of Politics, ABC News

Kendall Heath is an Emmy® Award-winning producer with nearly 20 years of experience covering breaking news and politics. She first joined ABC News as a segment producer for “Good Morning America,” then moved over to “This Week with George Stephanopoulos” as the editorial producer, booking guests for the show. Heath was later promoted to senior producer while contributing to network political specials and election programming, covering every election since 2004.

Heath served as the interim executive producer of “This Week” from December 2022 to May 2023 following the tragic and sudden loss of our colleague and friend, Dax Tejera.