

DEBORAH ROBERTS

Senior National Affairs Correspondent, ABC News; Co-Anchor, "20/20"

Deborah Roberts is an award-winning ABC News correspondent and co-anchor of the prestigious news magazine "20/20." A media veteran, Roberts has traveled the world for her reporting. She also serves as a substitute anchor for "Good Morning America" as well as a guest co-host on "The View."

Her in-depth coverage of current events has earned her a Peabody Award for the "20/20" special "Say Her Name: Breonna Taylor." She has been awarded multiple Emmy® Awards for international and national coverage of world events, including the AIDS crisis in Africa and maternal mortality in Bangladesh.

Roberts is the author of "Lessons Learned and Cherished: The Teacher Who Changed My Life," a New York Times bestseller. She's also authored a book with her husband, Al Roker, called "Been There, Done That: Family Wisdom for Modern Times." She currently resides in New York City with her husband and two children.